A popular two-day trail has changed from the previous linear route, to a circular route between Tweede Tol in Bainskloof to Bainskloof Corner Lodge, 2 km south of Eerste Tol. Groups are limited to 12 people, with a maximum of 24 people per day.

The trail starts at Tweede Tol (safe parking is available) and ascends steadily into Wolwekloof for the first 4 km. You hike in a southerly direction to Eerste Tol and the Bainskloof Corner Lodge (2 km south of Eerste Tol). The route offers beautiful views over the Berg River Valley, Table Mountain, Du Toitskloof and the Fish River passes. This popular two-day trail has been lengthened to 20.5 km, 2 days. Circular.

The slowest person determines the pace of hiking. Hikers are cautioned to heed weather reports. Small antelopes, baboons and the occasional caracal and leopard occur. You may also be lucky enough to spot endemic birds such as the Cape sugarbird and thepectus canary, as well as the majestic black agul. Some 102,000 ha of fynbos-covered mountain slopes, challenging cliffs, and indigenous river valleys make up the Limietberg Nature Reserve. It stretches from Franschhoek in the south, to the Klein Drakenstein mountains in the east and the Elandsberge in the north, and forms part of the greater Boland mountain range. The area is an important water catchment for the Breede and Berg Rivers. The catchment also feeds the Wemmershoek, Stellavalkoof and Brandvlei dams.

The weather conditions in these mountains vary from very hot and dry in the summer months, to extremely cold and wet during the winter, with snow on the higher peaks. Hikers are cautioned to heed weather reports. Small antelopes, baboons and the occasional caracal and leopard occur. You may also be lucky enough to spot endemic birds such as the Cape sugarbird and the pectus canary, as well as the majestic black agul. Some 102,000 ha of fynbos-covered mountain slopes, challenging cliffs, and indigenous river valleys make up the Limietberg Nature Reserve. It stretches from Franschhoek in the south, to the Klein Drakenstein mountains in the east and the Elandsberge in the north, and forms part of the greater Boland mountain range. The area is an important water catchment for the Breede and Berg Rivers. The catchment also feeds the Wemmershoek, Stellavalkoof and Brandvlei dams.

The weather conditions in these mountains vary from very hot and dry in the summer months, to extremely cold and wet during the winter, with snow on the higher peaks. Hikers are cautioned to heed weather reports.

Small antelopes, baboons and the occasional caracal and leopard occur. You may also be lucky enough to spot endemic birds such as the Cape sugarbird and the pectus canary, as well as the majestic black agul.

Some 102,000 ha of fynbos-covered mountain slopes, challenging cliffs, and indigenous river valleys make up the Limietberg Nature Reserve. It stretches from Franschhoek in the south, to the Klein Drakenstein mountains in the east and the Elandsberge in the north, and forms part of the greater Boland mountain range. The area is an important water catchment for the Breede and Berg Rivers. The catchment also feeds the Wemmershoek, Stellavalkoof and Brandvlei dams.

The weather conditions in these mountains vary from very hot and dry in the summer months, to extremely cold and wet during the winter, with snow on the higher peaks. Hikers are cautioned to heed weather reports.

Small antelopes, baboons and the occasional caracal and leopard occur. You may also be lucky enough to spot endemic birds such as the Cape sugarbird and the pectus canary, as well as the majestic black agul.

Some 102,000 ha of fynbos-covered mountain slopes, challenging cliffs, and indigenous river valleys make up the Limietberg Nature Reserve. It stretches from Franschhoek in the south, to the Klein Drakenstein mountains in the east and the Elandsberge in the north, and forms part of the greater Boland mountain range. The area is an important water catchment for the Breede and Berg Rivers. The catchment also feeds the Wemmershoek, Stellavalkoof and Brandvlei dams.

The weather conditions in these mountains vary from very hot and dry in the summer months, to extremely cold and wet during the winter, with snow on the higher peaks. Hikers are cautioned to heed weather reports.
To Wolseley

44 km

Rock Hopper

7.5 km, 5 hours. Open end. Can walk up or downstream.

This moderate to difficult adventure challenge is for that intrepid one up to 1.5 hours from the bridge eastern end of the Happy Valley parking area. The route downstream between each hopping, walking and swimming through to the last point at Bainskloof. Hikers among intermediate navigation are at all comfortable. You need to request to get in at the start and another to collect you at the end.

Hiking Trails:

- Limietberg Trail
- Rock Hopper Trail
- Murusie
- Bobbejaansrivier
- Happy Valley Trail
- Kromriver
- Elandervlakte
- Mossiepark

Public Trails:

- Happy Valley Trail
- Murusie
- Kromriver
- Elandervlakte
- Mossiepark

B˙

Kop

Murasie

Happy Valley

Kromrivier

Elandervlakte

Mossiepark

Happy Valley Trail

7 km, 3 hours. There and back.

This easy stroll up is the route of Right's Rest house soaring dramatically after Rivers. The trail starts at the easter trailhead above a stream. Here you hop over a ladder to a flat expanse. From here, head east towards the route crossing the river. With a little further and more your route continues to the right to the traum by a young woman in the bush. This has been a labelled as one of the most popular spots for swimming. This popular trail might be closed during winter and heavy rains. Please inquire first.

Happy Valley Trail

10 km, 6 hours. There and back.

This trail starts at the Bainskloof Lodge parking area. From here follow the grey road about 2.5 km until you reach the bridge eastern end of the Happy Valley parking area. The route downstream between each hopping, walking and swimming through to the last point at Bainskloof. Hikers among intermediate navigation are at all comfortable. You need to request to get in at the start and another to collect you at the end.

Bobbejaansrivier

9 km, 6 hours. There and back.

This trail starts at the Bobbejaansrivier trailhead at the Du Toitskloof Pass. It is longer and slightly difficult on the footpaths. The route downstream between each hopping, walking and swimming through to the last point at Bainskloof. Hikers among intermediate navigation are at all comfortable. You need to request to get in at the start and another to collect you at the end.

Miaspoort

6 km, 6 hours. There and back.

This trail starts at the old Du Toitskloof Pass. It is longer and slightly difficult on the footpaths. The route downstream between each hopping, walking and swimming through to the last point at Bainskloof. Hikers among intermediate navigation are at all comfortable. You need to request to get in at the start and another to collect you at the end.